Use Cases

Adobe Sign can be used across the entire sales lifecycle, from prospecting to renewal.

Improve signing experiences.

By integrating Adobe Sign with Salesforce, you take the hassle out of signing documents. Recipients can easily sign from any device in a few clicks, without downloading or installing any software. And once they sign, the Salesforce record is updated, and the final version is automatically archived and sent to all parties.

"We were looking to invest in proven technologies and strong support brought to us by a credible partner. That's what Adobe brings us."

JONATHAN BACK

CFO & Operations Director
Diners Club UK

Minimize risk. Improve compliance.

Reduce your exposure to legal and business risk with an automated process that removes the potential for human error. Create workflows that follow specified business rules to ensure the right information and the right documents are used every time. Improve compliance by maintaining a complete audit trail for every transaction. And take advantage of a variety of authentication methods to verify signer identity.

Increase productivity.

Automatically populate data from Salesforce into documents that you send for signature, and push data captured from those documents seamlessly back into Salesforce, without re-keying information. Once a transaction is complete, you can trigger status updates by email or within Salesforce Chatter. Or automatically initiate downstream activities such as invoicing, order fulfillment, or customer onboarding. Adobe Sign even has a Salesforce component that shows you the status for contracts in your email feed, so you can track and manage Salesforce contracts right from Gmail and Microsoft Outlook. You can also use Adobe Sign to add e-signing capabilities to Community Cloud portals, enabling your clients to sign agreements that you host there.

"Using Adobe Sign with Salesforce, we eliminate redundancies and errors for better and faster service. The finance team no longer needs to worry about delaying contracts due to discrepancies."
